

FOUR GENERATIONS ATTEND SCHOOL HERE

Four generations of one family have attended the schools of San Mateo county. This was disclosed by William R. Cook, of the San Mateo school, when he used the one-room school, presided over by the late teacher, San Mateo was a village, of about 100 people. It contained one blacksmith shop and a general store. There are probably the descendants of being the oldest native of the county. He was born Sept. 2, 1829, somewhere in the Feather River region as his parents were on their way to California from the East. He was a pioneer of the gold era and was reported to be so plentiful, that the family made their money in the mining camps of the Sierras. When the little fellow was about seven years old they came to San Mateo, county and settled at Redwood City. There along the old highway, where the highway now runs, the boy grew up and in 1857 attended the school at San Mateo, where he was a horse boy and worked on the highway every day, and in the little one-room school, where he was a boy himself and had been in school in San Mateo, but was a different school. This was the school of this city, which started in 1857. In 1903, and in 1904, a grand-daughter, Nina Taylor, now Mrs. George Price of San Mateo, went to school in the same school. "Bill" is now a teacher at Belmont, making the fourth generation of the family to attend the school of the county. Indirectly Bill is the third generation of the family on his father's side, as his father, Dave Price, now a teacher at Belmont, was a son of George Price, both went to San Mateo county schools.

The girls have also begun in earnest for the coming athletic season and are busy practicing hockey under the guidance of Miss Bradley. The freshman class as well as the members of the upper classes are being taught forward to the football season which will take place in September 26. Another important event in the social life of the school will be a big carnival planned for October 3. This will be preceded by a football game with some from San Francisco.

TEN PERCENT GAIN IN SEQUOIA ENROLLMENT

The enrollment this semester at the Sequoia Union High School, which opened last Monday, exceeds that at this time last year, by about ten percent. The registration to date is reported to be about 525. A freshman class of 125 has been registered so far and more are expected within the next two weeks. It is thought that the total enrollment will exceed 600 this year, as many who will be students at the local school are now engaged in work at the cannery and other vacation time work. These will register soon. Several changes have been made in the faculty. Miss Blakeslee, from the Vallejo Union High School, will teach English this year and will have charge of the school paper, Mr. Blase of Boise, Idaho, who took a master's degree at U. C. this summer, will take the classes of Miss Nott, who left this year to study in Europe. Miss Angelina Burns, who comes from Turlock, and who took a master's degree at Stanford, will succeed Miss Adenel Gerwin as librarian. Miss Cowden has returned from a trip around the world for which she secured a year's leave of absence and is again teaching history at Sequoia. Miss Irene Bradley, who for the past year has been devoting only half time to the school and half to the work of assistant superintendent of schools, has resigned the latter position and will once more devote her whole time to her work in the girls' athletic classes. No teacher has been selected to succeed Pro. Gaylord in teaching orchestra work. Paul Gerish has started a class of individual gymnastics, gym team, a swimming team and a class of co-ed exercises. The latter are to be stressed in every athletic class and are intended for the correction of all physical defects.

DEPUTY-SHERIFF GOES VACATIONING

When Deputy Sheriff Meeks left from his place of business on Webster street last Tuesday he looked anything but the stern guardian of the law which he has proved himself to be. Armed with a fish pole and reel, his sleeves rolled up and a broad smile upon his countenance, he was seen at the jail looking for the thorough vacationist. He expects to have some real fish stories to tell when he returns in two weeks, for he intends to carry detective experience with him and try it on the fish. For this purpose he equipped himself with a fishing outfit, including a fishing rod, reel, and a small boat, with which to observe the movements of the fish far off and steal upon them when they are not looking. Meeks was accompanied upon his vacation which is to be spent in the Big Sur by his wife and by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Poole of this city and Mrs. J. Meeks' brother, Frank Wilson of Los Angeles.

GRASS FIRES CALL OUT FIRE DEPARTMENT

The fire department responded to a call Thursday and extinguished a grass fire which was threatening the home of Dr. John N. Blood on the corner of Whipple avenue and Iris street. On Tuesday the department answered two calls during the noon hour. The first was a small blaze near the Woman's club house, which was extinguished before the firemen arrived. The second was more serious. It was a grass fire behind the home of W. Hohn and the Leonard & Holt realty office on the corner of the Highway and Whipple avenue. NARROWLY ESCAPES DEATH WHEN CAR LEAPS BRIDGE

William Johnson and J. B. Eccles, civil engineers of San Francisco, narrowly escaped fatal injuries in a wreck which resulted from their car plunging over the Finkler creek bridge on the northern limits of Redwood City last Sunday night. The two men were driving toward the city and are said to have been traveling at an excessive rate of speed. Owing to the improvements now under way along the highway, the northern limit of the new strip along the highway at the end of the highway is blocked at the bridge. The driver of the car did not notice this until he was nearly upon the obstruction. He swerved his car quickly to the left, but could not recover control of the car until it had crossed the bridge and jumped the end of the bridge. It fell about twenty feet to the creek bed below. The accident was seen by Marshal Wheeler of San Carlos, whose car narrowly escaped being struck by the speeding car in its mad rush across the road. The two men who were in the car were badly hurt, but neither fatally injured. Neither of the men were unconscious.

Chickens are to be canned and the enterprise promises to be a thriving one. The company has ample capital to conduct the business on a large scale. McGarvey and Flynn have also disposed of two acres of the rear of the tract to the trustees of the Washington school which will give more ground for athletic purposes to the school. It is the purpose of the new buyers to subdivide the remainder of the property and place it on the market at once. The adjoining tract of twenty acres will also be divided and sold in conjunction with the other holding.

It was reported on good authority this week that a large eastern manufacturing firm had purchased five acres of the Ligouri tract east of town for the purpose of erecting a factory for their product. The manufacturing concern had been holding an option on the property for some time and are said to have closed a deal Thursday.

The nature of the plant is being kept secret as yet, but it is reliably understood that the factory will be for the manufacture of an important article of household use.

The Ligouri property is a choice piece of industrial land adjacent to the Chestnut street car line. It is understood that a very satisfactory price was paid for the five acres reported to have been sold this week.

McGovern announces that visitors will be allowed in San Mateo county jail only on three days during the week, and the hours of 2 and 4 o'clock, Sheriff T. C. McGovern announced this week. Visitation will be limited to 25 minutes, Wednesday, Friday and Sunday are the visiting days.

FIRE ON MOUNTAIN UNDER CONTROL

A fire which raged through the thick growth of undergrowth on the south eastern slope of Kings Mountain for more than thirty-six hours was brought under control by a band of fire fighters on Wednesday afternoon. The fire is understood to have originated in the members of an unextinguished camp fire left by some deer hunters on the Kings Mountain. It was noticed on Tuesday and by evening had reached large proportions.

County Fire Warden Bert Wender hastened to the scene of the fire with the men he could secure and began an intensive campaign against the flames which ended victoriously for the fire fighters on Wednesday evening. The area is now being patrolled to prevent the fire from breaking out again.

During its course the fire swept about five hundred acres of underbrush, scrub oak and some second growth redwood. No tall timber was in the path of the flames and no serious damage was done.

SIGN SAYS "SLOW" DRIVER GOES FAST

When William Kilpatrick of Los Altos sped through here at 2 o'clock yesterday morning, he failed to slow down when the little blinking signal at the corner of Broadway and the Highway blinked its warning. He even failed to slow down enough to notice that when the light blinked on it read "Slow." Kilpatrick sped on - he even failed to turn out for the light but struck it firmly in the center. The light went out, the east front pillar on which it has perched for the past few months was broken off and the whole signal was scattered along the highway for several yards. In fact, when Kilpatrick had done with the light nothing but the concrete base remained to show where it had been.

But even being thus forebly reminded of the warning of the little blinking red light did not make Kilpatrick slow down. He sped on faster than ever and would have kept on speeding had not an auto behind him seen the affair and taken his number. This motorist notified the local police, who gave chase and overhauled Kilpatrick with his car much the worse for the encounter, just south of Redwood City. He was returned to this city and given a room in the jail here. He will pay for the light first and then see whether the local police wish to press a charge of speeding and reckless driving.

WOODSIDE DISTRICT NEWS: FOREST FIRE CAUSES FUROR

Woodside has gone through considerable excitement during the last few days owing to the fire that swept along the mountain ridge from Kings Mountain south. Most of the male portion of the population was to be found on the fighting line while the other members of the community watched the progress of the flames through field, vineyard or labored at providing food for the men on the line. Probably one of the most valuable men among the fire fighters was J. V. Neuman, for he has had much experience in this kind of work and adds to his training as an engineer a most practical knowledge of the trails and by-paths, canyons and ridges along this mountain range. Mr. Lawrence Harris organized the work of provisioning the workers and so efficiently was this part of the work performed that there was nothing to complain of from all quarters for the quartermaster's department. The fire was finally put under the control after about 1200 acres had been burned over.

Gibson manager of the plant acted as guide to the local businessmen and when the party left presented each member with two cans of their product.

WOMAN, 103, DIES AT RELIEF HOME

There were buried from the Laying & Tinney mortuary parlors on Broadway on Saturday last the remains of Sarah Dowland, who died the day before at the Community hospital, following a long illness. The remains were laid away in Union cemetery. She did not know the exact date of her birth, but from records gathered by friends it is shown that she was one hundred and three years old. The aged lady saw the light of day in Ireland, but at an early age came to New York and from the gleanings of her early career, it is learned that she became prominent in the Bowery, in the early forties, when that part of New York was the respectable part of the city. In 1848 she became wealthy and hobnobbed with the wealthy and was looked upon as the social leader of her set. Mrs. Dowland becoming reduced in circumstances, looked to the Golden Gate to recover her lost fortune and came to San Francisco many years ago. California did not prove to be the land of her youthful dreams, although it did prove such for some of her relatives.

Her brother, the late Michael Skelly, in the early days owned the North Beach and Mission railroads. Many of the old timers in San Mateo county will remember the latter for it ran down Fourth to Third and Townsend. The old horse cars would take passengers up Fourth to Market and to Kearney street and from that street connect with the North Beach line that traversed the north end of San Francisco. The old horse cars did a big business and Skelly soon became a millionaire. Mrs. Skelly died a few years ago leaving an estate of $5,000,000, consisting of valuable San Francisco realty. Mrs. Dowland drifted from her family, severing all ties and finally landed in San Mateo many years ago, leading a quiet and uneventful life with her friends, the late Mrs. Perkins. After the latter's death and when she was old and decrepit, Mrs. Dowland became an inmate of the county relief home, where she lived in apparent contentment and happiness until she was taken sick some time ago, and was removed to the Community hospital, where she passed away to the other shore after a long and painful life.

Mrs. Dowland was a long and arduous life. She was a pioneer of the rugged country in its early days, great friends that they had not seen for many years, and what a picture to see them meeting under conditions so fair and a setting so beautiful as the Golden State of California. Strong as in the early days of Nevada may be, these reunions on the shores of the Golden Gate will knit more closely that affection. It is planned to hold these reunions somewhere in California annually.

Among the cemen who attended the reunion were: Mrs. E. R. Lam and son Earl Lam of Ravenswood; Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Arends and daughter, Miss Margaret; Miss Avis Vallenore; and Mrs. Miles Sharkey, and Mrs. S. L. North and son, Stanley of Redwood City.

DAVE WALTER HEADS IMPORTANT COMMITTEE

Word was received this week by Dave L. Walter, of the firm of Lam-bert & Walter of this city, and a director of the California Association of Insurance Agents, of his appointment as chairman of the San Mateo County Attendance Committee of that organization. The appointment of the local man was made this week by Ralph W. McCormick of Marysville, president of the association. Walter will with the assistance of F. J. Kell of San Mateo and Stanley Kelly of Burlingame, organize a large delegation from this county to attend the eighteenth annual convention of the association to be held in San Francisco from the 17th to 19th of September.

MILLMAN KILLED IN 35 FOOT FALL

While working on scaffolding at the mill where he has been foreman for many years, William Magnus Lukens lost his balance and fell thirty-five feet, striking his head upon a heavy timber below. The family have been working with the cables on a large crane at the mill, which is about four miles from La Honda toward Pescadero. He was making preparations to haul some logs with the crane and was stepping down reaching for a clamp when his lost his balance and fell. The accident was seen by a number of the workmen who were near by. Lukens' skull was completely crushed and his death was instantaneous. The deceased was 41 years of age and a native of Indiana. For many years past the family have been residents of La Honda, and are prominently known on the coastside. He was formerly a part owner of the McJell mill which was purchased some years ago by the Bloomquist brothers. He was then made foreman of the mill and has continued there from that time until his death.

Surviving the deceased are his wife, Mrs. Lottie Lukens, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lukens, and two brothers, all residents of La Honda.

NEVADANS CELEBRATE IN REUNION AT OAKLAND

Last Sunday was a gala day for many former residents of Nevada who gathered at Oakland for a reunion and picnic of former residents of the battle-born state. Over 2500 former Nevadans and residents of the state met to renew old friendships and exchange greetings. Many journeyed down from the sagebrush state since the war, and former residents came from all corners of the great state of California. A sprig of sagebrush was pinned on a you as you registered and the odor of the sagebrush together with old familiar faces brought back memories of the old Nevada. Many wore the "We love you Nevada" badge, but oh you Nevada. Particularly inspiring was it to see old grey-haired men and women, pioneers of the desert, men and women who had withstood the privations of the rugged country in its early days, great friends that they had not seen for many years, and what a picture to see them meeting under conditions so fair and a setting so beautiful as the Golden State of California. Strong as in the early days of Nevada may be, these reunions on the shores of the Golden Gate will knit more closely that affection. It is planned to hold these reunions somewhere in California annually.

A BIG LOCAL INDUSTRY

WE had an opportunity recently of inspecting the plant of the Pratt Low cannery under the guidance of Mr. Gibson, the superintendent of that plant. To those who are not familiar with the progress which has been made in the canning methods of late years, a stroll through the local plant is indeed a revelation.

From the time that the fruit is weighed into the cans by girls who work with surprising dexterity, to the finished cans, wrapped with the labels and placed into the boxes for shipment, the whole process is one of mechanical efficiency. Everything is done on conveyors and by machinery. The cans are carried by an endless belt to a machine where just the right amount of syrup is dropped into them and they are automatically run into a cooker, from whence they emerge just in time to be caught in the iron claws of another machine, where after a whirl around a merry-go-round they issue with covers tightly in place and are carried by a conveyor into another long cooker. From this cooker the dozen cans each on little wooden trays. Here the only human handling comes in for cans now must be fed into a machine which with many times the speed and accuracy of human hands wraps and pastes the label on each can. From this machine the cans are taken directly into the boxes which are waiting for them.

From start to finish the plant is a wonder of mechanical efficiency and is truly a surprise to the uninitiated. The Pratt Low cannery is a distinct asset to Redwood City, and is destined to be one of the important factors which will make this one of the leading industrial sections of the coast. Our only regret is that all their labels bear the name of Santa Clara and no reference is made to Redwood City. If the name of Redwood City appeared on every can sent out of the local plant, it would be a distinct advantage in the way of advertising to the town. We hope the management will consider this suggestion.

ARE WE A TOWN OR A SUBURB?

WHAT is the difference between a town and a suburb? Well, in the first place a town must have a community spirit. The merchants of a town receive the support of their fellow townsmen, not merely because it is more convenient to trade at home, but because it is a point of honor to support the home-town industries. In a suburb the people generally trade in the town to which they are adjacent and help to build up the business of that town, rather than their own community. A town develops and grows, a suburb never amounts to much, except in aiding the development of the more progressive town to which it is willing to be a suburb.

A town supports the home-town papers, which work for the unification of the town and for the good of the local merchant and local citizen. In a suburb, however, the place of the local paper is taken by papers circulated from the adjacent community which strive by every effort known to the science of advertising to draw business from the suburbs into the other town.

These are only examples of the difference between a suburb and a town, another important difference is in the attitude of the citizens. Residents of Redwood City, say, "I am from Redwood City, county seat of San Mateo County." While many people we know say, "I am from such a place, a suburb of Los Angeles." They always put the accent on Los Angeles, and we know instinctively that the home-town spirit has been sacrificed, that the home merchants suffer for trade which goes to the larger city and that the advertising from the big city is drawing the business which rightfully should be building up the home.

Redwood City is still a town. It can keep the town spirit and thrive, or it may become a suburb and add to the growth of some other town. It's all in the attitude. The home-town attitude is "Trade-At-Home," the suburb attitude is "Trade Somewhere Else." We may become even a suburb of Chicago through the mail order houses or of San Francisco, or any other place. But the result is the same. Business which should be putting plate glass fronts on our stores and paying for good streets with local taxes is being spent for the benefit of other communities. And the citizens of communities coming through Redwood City turn away when they see bumps on some of our

PARA-MOUNT FILM VERSION OF NEW ZANE GREY
STORY COMING TO SEQUOIA

Paramount has pictured another of those redoubtable stories from the facile pen of Zane Grey and this new and high-powered western melodrama, "Wild Horse Mesa," will show next Wednesday and Thursday, Sept. 2 and 3 at the Sequoia Theatre on Broadway.

To the lively plot, full of adventurous action and compelling drama, staged against a rugged, majestic background—a duplicate of the Wild Horse Mesa, a gigantic and practically inaccessible wilderness in Utah—has been added a spirited cast featuring such sterling favorites as Jack Holt, Noah Beery, Billie Dove and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. The theme of the story, which has to do with the capturing, taming and selling of wild horses, is a virile romance that has a surprising twist, since it involves a half dozen people whose love affairs are strangely entangled.

"Wild Horse Mesa" was adapted by Lucien Hubbard and directed by George B. Seitz. Advance advice has it as "the production of a thousand thrills," for from start to finish it is muffled with gasp-provoking scenes and situations that are topped by a smashing climax in which thousands of terror-stricken wild horses are stampeded into a vicious barbed wire corral.

Admirers of the enchanting Corinne Griffith have an opportunity of seeing that talented actress in a tremendously dramatic role at the Sequoia theatre, where First National's "The Marriage Wheel," will be shown next Monday and Tuesday, August 31, and September 1st.

Never has the beautiful Corinne enacted a more trying role, and never has her triumph been greater. Foremost in her support are Kenneth Harlan, Harrison Ford and Nita Naldi, each of whom contributes a striking characterization. New York and Paris form the background of the picture, which is a screen translation of the J. Hartley Manners stage offering, "The National Anthem."

With Kenneth Harlan, Miss Griffith portrays an American couple typical of hundreds who annually fall under the soubriquet spell of the pleasure-mad French capital, where the rising sun alone brings a respite from revelry. Clinging faithfully to a husband—caught in the whirlpool of Parisian night life, the heroine fights a vain battle to save him, only to be forced in the end to turn herself for succor to the staunch friend who once had hoped to win her hand. The latter is skillfully etched by Harrison Ford.

And the soulless interloper, a species with which Paris abounds, is presented with unflinching fidelity by Nita Naldi.

For a real insight into the vagaries of Parisian night life, see this latest First National picture, so ably directed by Al Santell and cleverly acted by Miss Griffith and her cohorts.

Earliest Known Sheep

"The grandfather of all sheep," the "ovis polii" gets its name from its discoverer, Marco Polo. It was not until 500 years after he discovered the animal that his assertion that the animal existed was substantiated.

Destroying Ants

The use of carbon disulphide is recommended to destroy ants. Pour a little of the disulphide into the openings of the hills, and then close them up. The vapors from the disulphide up. The chambers and kill penetrate all the chambers and kill larvae as well as adults, if enough has been used. One treatment often does the work.

Knows How to Fish

The kingfisher and great blue heron are both solitary fishers of the coastal waters, both knowing the art of fishing quietly, says Nature Magazine. The kingfisher has his regular watch towers above the marginal waters, and with his arrow-shaped body and strong wings he is equipped like a professional fisherman.

What is Metropolitan banking Service?

FOR many years the great metropolitan banking institutions of the North American Continent were maintained exclusively in the large eastern centers—New York, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, Montreal and Toronto.

Now, in the west, the Bank of Italy has reached metropolitan magnitude—with over half a million depositors, and resources worth over 370 millions of dollars—the largest financial institution west of Chicago.

Metropolitan service, as applied to banking, means the ability to serve promptly and adequately in every capacity known to modern banking.

It means large capital—large organization—sane conservatism—broad vision—initiative—enterprise—and trained specialists in every department.

NEWS OF MENLO PARK

W. J. Murray has returned from his vacation at Bartlett Springs. He says the well-known resort is filled to capacity and that it has done more business than ever before.

Richard Rafford, old and decrepit, topped into town Tuesday to be greeted by former friends. Mr. Rafford left here many years ago and many supposed that he had long since passed into the valley of the shadow. He was taken to the Hotel Home, where he will spend his few remaining days. He has reached the ripe old age of 88 years. He first came to Menlo Park in 1876 to become engineer for the Monahan threshing outfit and has worked off and on here since, with the exception of about ten years. Rafford came to the state from his birth place in Brooklyn, New York, in 1850 and at once went to the mines, where he engaged in the butchering business, amassing a fortune, but like all old California, he led a gay life and his money slipped away. Like the rest, he danced all summer, not providing for his old age. Unlike the latter, he did not store away a competency for the rainy day when he could no longer work. Now in the twilight of life he is compelled to spend his last days in the relief home. It is good philosophy to save when young so that provisions may be made for the time when the sun and yellow leaf come. Rafford was no different to many other old forty-niners.

Matthew McCollough, a former Menlo Park boy, is now on the local staff of St. Mary's College, teaching commercial law. A. Shine, a practicing lawyer of Oakland, is also on the staff. Mr. Shine was born and raised at Woodside.

Supervisor John MacBain is making the Stanford avenue in Menlo Oaks. The thoroughfare runs from Ringwood road to the rear of St. Patrick's avenue where it connects with another street that intersects the Willow road.

The grammar school opened on Monday with an increased registration. The registration last year was 180 pupils while last Monday it was 218. If this increase continues large buildings will have to be erected in the near future.

Denis A. Merg, treasurer for the Southern Pacific Company for over 12 years, will leave for a 3 weeks' trip to Chicago, September 3rd. He travels on free transportation passes provided by the S. P. Co.

The Goldwaller will take possession of the beautiful Merrill home which they bought recently on Alherton avenue. Mrs. John F. Merrill has purchased the attractive Devoy estate in San Mateo, and will occupy it early next week. It is one of the show places of San Mateo.

The rummage sale and food sale under the auspices of the Catholic National Welfare Society began yesterday in the Slinger building, near the post office, and will continue today. Beginning early this morning the sales will continue until evening. The pies and cakes and other delicacies will be on display this morning. Many valuable articles are being disposed of, and some big bargains are being offered. Come and secure them. The toothsome home-made cakes will feature today's sale.

Thursday morning as the workmen were engaged in their activities on the new bank building the concrete hoisting tower toppled and fell with a tremendous crash to the ground. The men miraculously escaped from injury. They heard the cracking noise and seeing danger immediately sought safety in quick retreat. The temporarily constructed tower could not stand the heavy loads of concrete sent to the second story of the building and the standing gave way. On account of the accident, work on the building will be delayed for a few days.

the quaint little town by the sea.

The incorporation Club held its weekly meeting Thursday evening. The report of the finance committee showed a splendid balance. Sale of tickets for the dance on September 12 is encouraging, over 250 have already been disposed. The committee expects to sell more than 500. J. J. Harris and E. K. Quinby made splendid addresses.

J. Eppesha, who committed suicide in San Francisco last week, was well known here, where he resided twenty years ago. He was a butcher at the Polson home for many years, and when Senator Polson passed away he removed to San Francisco and little was heard of him until the account of his suicide was published. He at one time was a butler in the home of Timothy Hopkins and de Guignes at San Mateo. He was 83 years old at the time of his death.

Yesterday E. W. Magruder, the local real estate man, sold the Leigh property on the highway at Atherton, adjoining the small bridge mid-way between Redwood City and Menlo Park for $16,000. Only a month ago the choice holding was offered for $12,500. This demonstrates how property in this locality is advancing in price. It has a frontage of 263 feet and is well improved. The purchaser is a San Francisco capitalist who is to lease the place for a hotel and restaurant. A local restaurant man is negotiating for the lease to establish a first-class restaurant. It is just beyond the city limits of Atherton and in the proposed incorporation of Menlo Park.

George Kammerer, former commander in the navy during the war, and well known in Redwood circles along the Pacific Coast, passed away at the base hospital during the week. He was a nephew of Mrs. A. Gale of Menlo Park, and was 62 years old. The deceased is survived by his mother, Mrs. Charles G. Kammerer of San Jose; his wife, Mrs. Helen Kammerer; daughters, Mrs. Arthur Wilson and Miss Constance Kammerer, and a son, Charles G. all of Burlingame.

Mr. Kammerer was widely known in this district, having been Redwood district commander here in recent years. He has been in the naval reserve for the past 25 years. Born in San Francisco, he was the son of Charles G. Kammerer, a well-known business man of that city. He has made his home in Burlingame in recent years.

PROPERTY OWNERS and PROSPECTIVE BUYERS

WE HAVE IN PREVIOUS ISSUES OF THE TIMES-GAZETTE EXPLAINED THE MEANING OF THE WORD, "REALTOR." However to go further into the explanation. It is not enough to merely sell a vacant lot. We want to assist the public in the improvement of the ground and in the financial end of the construction of the building. Then when the time comes to dispose of the property, the "REALTOR" can assist to sell at a profit. The "REALTOR" is a servant of the public. If you wish to either buy at the right figure or to sell to advantage see the REALTOR.

HALF DOLLAR JUBILEE SOUVENIRS ON SALE HERE

Only 300,000 persons out of California's four million population will be privileged to carry down through the years as a souvenir the unique half dollar which has been coined by the United States to commemorate California's Diamond Jubilee Year.

Three hundred thousand is the limit placed by the government on the number of the coins that may be minted. And of this total, one half already has been distributed to purchasers throughout the state.

Because of this condition, the Diamond Jubilee Committee this week issued a statement urging the public to place orders for the souvenirs at once. Orders may be filled through local bankers or with the committee at Room 546 Phelan building, San Francisco.

The half dollar is typical and emblematic of California. On one side is the figure of the California bear, which has been a symbol of the state's liberty since it proclaimed itself free of Mexican rule in 1848. On the reverse side is the figure of the '49 panning gold, emblem of the pioneer affluence which initiated the state's later development to the great commonwealth which it is today.

Any person desiring these coins, may purchase same at First National Bank, Redwood City.
